QUEEN'S BASKETMEN WIN CLOSELY CONTESTED GAME

Score See-Saws Through Whole Game—Fast Tri-coloured Quintet Comes Out at Top of a 36-31 score—Little of McGill and Jones of Queen's Played Stellar Ball.

Playing up and down the floor, first one team with a single point lead and then the other, McGill and Queen's on last Saturday staged one of the most thrilling games that have been played in the Intercollegiate Basketball League. Queen's backed by a huge crowd of rooters, and fresh from a good day's rest, were in the final minute of play able to get back the lead and in that final short minute the ball took three trips into the net, giving the victory to the fast-moving tri-coloured quintet. McGill in that last few minutes made every effort possible to score. Time after time the forwards worked the ball down the floor but were forced to over-run the line and the Queen's team got the ball off side. Again and again desperate long shots rolled out of the wrong side of the ring so that the final moment of play found an exhausted squad of players unable to get back on the defence with their usual speed and unable to pass by the heavy checking of Queen's opposition. Queen's was backed by a crowd of rooters who with the typical tri-coloured spirit supported their team to the last minute and urged them on to victory. McGill despite the final spurt was unable to catch the Queen's team and the final whistle left them five points behind.

At the start of the game the Queen's centre who was slightly taller than Man, got the jump. Mendelsohn caught the ball however and started down the floor. A personal foul gave McGill a free try which missed the mark. Queen's got the ball off side and were able to score on a basket from the throw out. Mendelsohn again got the ball after the jump and missed a shot but scored on the rebound. Queen's pounded the brackets at this point in the play but were wild in their shooting and for the most part missed the backboard completely and giving McGill the ball off side. Crain dribbled all the way down the floor but was forced off side under the basket and Queen's had the ball. A few seconds later the tri-coloured forwards dropped in two long shots from well outside the defence. On a personal foul McGill had two free tries which missed the mark. Queen's rooters were at all times rooting for their players. The home team however was for the next few minutes forced to play outside the McGill defence and was unable to break through.

Queen's scored on a long shot at the basket after several had gone wide of the mark. The McGill team played a defensive style of play and when they did shoot although they were able to hit the back board the ball did not get into the ring. Little got a free try into the net at this point despite efforts to rattle him. An instant later Jones netted a free try for the Queen's team. The teams are both moving fast but their style of play is different. Queen's at every opportunity takes a shot at the basket while McGill tries to work in for close shots which for the most part go wide of the mark. Queen's got the ball off side and scored on another long shot. Then Manson was injured but despite this fact after a minute's rest he started in action again. Jones scored a free try while the Queen's rooters were silent. Crain terminated a lone dribble down the floor with a neat basket. Queen's netted another try on free toss. The home team was bombarding the basket with shots, the ball going wild, McGill took a long shot which slipped neatly out of the ring. The game for both sides was fast, the Queen's and McGill men both exerting every effort to score. Lewis, the big Queen's defence man, was a potent factor in the inability of McGill to get through while Thomas also helped to stop the forward line. Little worked well and was the biggest danger to the Kingston team. Queen's scored a minute later on a rebound. Mendelsohn was slightly injured when he was forced off side under the basket while taking a shot. Little terminated a series of passes by sending a clean shot through the ring. Queen's scored on a shot from the side which went through the ring without hitting the iron or the backboard. Crain missed a long shot but in a clever bit of work mixed with a faked pass he netted the ball. The game is marked by heavy checking and this breaks up the passing of both the teams. Queen's scored. Amaron missed as he is forced off side. McGill took time out, the score being 15 to 11 for Queen's. Turpell went into the game for Mendelsohn. The game starts on at a fast pace, the greater part of the McGill combination being broken up by heavy checking while although the Queen's team are a little the better in the play they find the Red and White defence an impassable barrier and are shooting

BOXING AND WRESTLING ELIMINATIONS

Great Display in Union Last Saturday

BOXER MET WRESTLER

Fencing Exhibition Was Also Staged

A good crowd witnessed the B. W. F. Eliminations at the Union Saturday night.

When the bouts commenced few spectators were present and the crowd missed a lively tussle between Silver and Bernstein, 110 lbs., of the wrestling team. Silver proved too much and soon scored two falls.

Fisher vs. McNaughton, of the 145 lb. class, gave a fast demonstration of good wrestling. McNaughton won.

Caron and Everett, 135 lbs., gave the crowd many thrills, and a good exhibition of the fistic art. Caron lead throughout in aggressiveness, and won decisively.

The boxing elimination in the 145 lb. class between Champion and Hambley proved another win for Champion. Hambley proved a tough customer, but lacked experience in infighting.

Wrestlers Adams and Thompson, 158 lbs., next took the mat and Thompson gave the crowd a demonstration of the village smitely. Thompson has a great combination of strength and skill, and was declared winner.

Brown and Delorimer mixed it up for the wrestlers of the 125 lb. class. Delorimer gained two downs. Both men are new at the game, but have the making of good wrestlers.

The fencers gave a demonstration of when Knighthood was in Flower, Louis quatorze style.

Clement, the breezy little wrestling artist of 135 lbs., came across with another win by defeating Bacal.

The boxing honours of 118 lbs. is heavily contested by good men. Schleifer, of the 110 lb. class, not being challenged by boxers of that class, entered the 118 lb. claimants and by a clever battle outwitted Sharpe, the clever fistic hope of that class in boxing.

Wilson and Goldapple, both well-known men of pugilistic aspirations, gave a speedy exhibition. Wilson deserves great credit for his win over Goldapple. It was a clever battle.

The evening's entertainment closed with the mixed bout. At the clang of the gong both Montgomery and Brewer circled in wary aggression. Brewer was handicapped by a short reach and the heavy wrestling mat. Brewer feinted, and shot a glancing right to Monty's head. Montgomery dove for Brewer's feet. Brewer struck out heavily and just evaded a body hold. Monty closed Brewer in a corner while the latter was endeavouring to get behind Monty's reach, but Brewer escaped by clever foot work. Montgomery closed again with a body hold, but received four heavy body blows, and the men fell through the ropes. Again the men closed, while Brewer was lunging with the right Monty tackled, and they crashed through the ropes, Brewer landing on top. Brewer circled and landed a glancing

MEETING OF DAILY STAFF TUESDAY

Prominent Local Speaker to Address Reporters

On Tuesday evening the members of the Daily staff will be addressed by a prominent local journalist. Who this speaker is to be has not yet been announced, but it is said that a man very well known in the local journalistic field will give the staff a talk that will be well worth listening to.

The importance of these little talks to the members of the staff cannot be underestimated, as they instruct those on the staff in the essential elements of journalism.

It is expected that the reportorial staff of the R.V.C. and M.S.P.E. will attend the meeting in full force.

Arrangements have been made with the Union Cafeteria to serve refreshments at the conclusion of the meeting.

All members of the staff are invited to attend this meeting, while any men who have been previously connected with the Daily will be welcome to once again renew old acquaintances.

PROFESSORS WILL ACT IN DRAMAS SOON

Prof. Waugh on Cast of Two Plays

THURSDAY NIGHT

'Diminutive Dramas' to Be Given by Alumnae Soc.

The cast of the Alumnae plays, about which there has been much speculation of late, has at last been disclosed, and it is now made known what members of the Faculty are taking part and their respective roles.

For the first play "Lucullus' Dinner Party" the following is the cast:

Lucullus . . . Prof. Brodie Brockwell
Cook . . . Prof. Quayle
Slave . . . Mrs. Stewart
Portia . . . Prof. Carrie Derrick
Cleopatra . . . Miss Jean Nichol
Clodia . . . Miss Muriel Wilson

In the next play, that of "King Alfred and the Meat Herd," there are only three characters, of which King Alfred is played by Prof. Matthews, the Meat Herd by Prof. Quayle, and the Meat Herd's wife by Miss Margaret Macnaughton.

In the play, "After Euripides' Electra," those taking part are:

Socrates . . . Prof. Waugh
Alander . . . Harry Avison
Demetrius . . . Prof. Carless
Aeneas . . . Mr. Noad
Antagoras . . . Mr. Vessot
Nancydes . . . Mr. Taylor
Heliodore . . . Miss D. Mackenzie
Lyons . . . Miss Elizabeth Monk
Timareta . . . Miss Helen Rydd
Nicylla . . . Miss Pickel
Hegess . . . Miss Sally Cameron
Slave . . . Mrs. Stewart

The first two acts of Dr. Leacock's "Behind the Beyond" will be read by Prof. Lloyd, and acted in dumb show by the following:—

Sir John Trevor . . . Prof. Waugh
Mr. Harding . . . Prof. Matthews
Mrs. Harding . . . Miss J. Spier
Valet . . . Mr. Taylor
Maid . . . Miss D. Sharples
Lady Cicely (his wife) Miss W. Birkett

The programme will end with a French play, in which Mlle. Touren Miss King, Prof. du Roure and Prof. Tynald will take part.

These "Diminutive Dramas" will be played on Thursday evening, Feb. 8, in Convocation Hall, R.V.C. Tickets, one dollar each, are on sale at the Union and the Royal Victoria College. The balcony will be reserved for women, tickets for which, at fifty cents each, may be obtained from Miss Pickel.

TO DISCUSS NEW ATHLETIC CONSTITUTION

Propose to Include Faculty and Graduates on Board

RADICAL CHANGE

'Daily' and 'Song Book' Up for Discussion

This afternoon, at 5.15 sharp, in the Union, the Students' Society will hold a special open meeting. Several points of utmost importance to the student body will be discussed at this meeting, at which every student in the University is expected to be present.

The headliner for the afternoon is the discussion on the proposed change in the college's athletic constitution. At the present time, the control of athletics in the University is entirely under the charge of the students through the medium of the Students' Council. The proposed change will alter matters considerably. It has long been felt that the management of university athletics should not be left entirely in the hands of the student body. The Students' Council have, during the past few years, run the athletics in a very commendable manner, though the general consensus of opinion is that the members of the faculty as well as graduate students should have some say in the directing of college athletics.

It is proposed to place athletics under the management of a committee of eleven men. Of these, one will be the Principal of the University, the second, Dr. Lamb, director of the Department of Physical Education. Three members of the faculty and three graduate students will bring the number up to eight, the remainder of the proposed board will be made up of members of the student body, to be elected by the students.

This proposed change is of the greatest importance to the students, because it will contribute materially towards interesting the graduates and the members of the faculty in the college athletics.

The second matter that will be dealt with at this very important meeting will be the "Daily." Some time ago a "Daily" week was conducted with a view to increasing the advertising in the "Daily," which has fallen off considerably since last year. The "Daily" should be a financial success as well as a news bearer. The Council has always looked up to the "Daily" to augment its funds considerably. This year, however, the advertising has been so poor that unless some radical improvement in this direction is made, the "Daily" will prove a loss to the Council rather than an asset. The outcome of the recently held campaign, as well as other matters of interest concerning the "Daily" will be gone into thoroughly at this afternoon's meeting.

The third topic for discussion will be the McGill Song Book. This book, which contains all the songs of especial interest to McGill men, was published by the Council about a year ago. All the songs used by the rooters are in this book, so that every man in college should be in possession of a copy.

The Song Book was produced at a cost of one dollar and fifty cents, and

FIRST FORMAL OF YEAR FRIDAY NIGHT

Union House Dance Will Be Brilliant Affair

On Friday evening, the ninth of February, the greatest of all college dances since the famous dance which marked the official opening of the Union in 1906, will take place.

Formal dances have always produced lingering memories in the minds of graduates, and in this respect the Union House dance of 1923 will be no exception. Everything necessary for the success of a big formal dance has been carefully looked after by those responsible for the carrying out of the affair.

First of all, for the comfort of the dancers, there will be only a limited number of tickets put on sale at five dollars each. The decorations, too, have received special attention, and the refreshments will be up to the usual Union standards.

This week is one of the most suitable that could be found for the holding of this important function. First term examinations are now a thing of the past, and there is nothing more appropriate than a college formal to start a new year with.

Tickets, five dollars, each, are now on sale at the porter's desk.

YOU are, possibly, concerned now only with acquiring the training that leads to success.

THE ATHLETIC BOARD

Athletics at McGill have long been under a handicap. Till today no active measures have been taken by the students of the college to do away with such impediments and to place sport upon a different footing. The main difficulty has been previously that the entire control and direction of sports at McGill, in marked contrast to the majority of other universities, have been in the hands of the undergraduates, to the exclusion of Faculty or Graduate representation; with the result that lack of co-operation of the one and lack of support of the other have, at times, been only too evident. The proposal to come up before the Students' Society this afternoon seeks to remedy these obvious shortcomings of the present system by the institution of an Athletic Governing Board to be composed of representatives from the Faculty, from the Graduate Body and from the students themselves. In this manner, it is felt that support of athletics will be fostered by the Faculty being made aware of the assistance that may be given to them by effective regulations and that prudent supervision will be aided by the weight which older minds will add to the decisions of the Board. This afternoon at five-fifteen o'clock the undergraduates of McGill are asked to be on hand to express their views upon this matter so pertinent to their needs.

LOYALTY TO ONE'S COLLEGE

What does loyalty to one's college involve? . . . Subtraction from life, yours and mine, all that college gives; interests, appreciation, sympathies, judgment, skill, connections with people and things, associations, friendships, memories, ideals, energy set free, personal power. . . . What a narrow, limited thing life would be without these things. The hopes, the joys, the aspirations, the successes of every day have their roots in these golden days. As one realizes these things a wave of gratitude rises and seeks expression. The college, our College, is so much greater than the great thing it has done for each one of us, so much greater than the sum of all that it has done for us all. It stretches out its arms to all the future, to that host of merry, laughing, eager, aspiring youth of all the years to come. They are a part of the great whole.

Loyalty to one's college involves persistent and intelligent interest in all that concerns the welfare of our Alma Mater. It means that steadily through all the years we keep ourselves informed of the affairs of our College, of its personnel and equipment, of the work that it does, of the product that it turns out. It means that we should study from the outside angle the demands of the hour upon the colleges, and that we should know from the inside to what extent our College is meeting these demands. What of equipment? Is our College suffering for lack of tools? Are salaries adequate to secure men and women of power?

Loyalty means that one can always be counted on by one's college to stand by, to respond with information, advice, influence, work, money; that, busy as one is, one can do one more thing; that, poor as one is, one is willing to share what one has, if by any means one can serve Alma Mater.

Loyalty means love, deep and abiding; loyalty means confidence in the present of one's college and faith in its future; loyalty means service to the limit of one's powers,—thought and care and sacrifice in some degree commensurate with the inestimable gifts we have received from the noble College that is ours.

—The Wesleyan Alumnus.

EDITORIAL NOTE

This evening the University championships in Boxing, Wrestling and Fencing will be decided. The competitors in the bouts that will take place in the Union this evening have been training for many months and tonight will see the culmination of their efforts to gain a place upon the college team to meet those of Queen's and Varsity in Kingston in the near future. Apart from the inducement that any appeal for support may have upon the grounds of giving encouragement to the participants in the contests, it may be said that the student can travel far, can pay a great deal and yet not receive the entertainment that will be afforded by attending the "smoker" being held tonight under the auspices of the McGill B. W. & F.

UNITED STATES BUREAU CONDEMNS WRITING OF EXAMINATIONS

"Written Examinations and Their Improvement" is the title of a bulletin issued by the bureau of educational research which is of especial interest at this time.

The criticisms of examinations are that they yield inaccurate measures of achievement, stimulate undesirable mental processes, tend to become educational objectives and injure the students' health.

The defense of written examinations is that they are necessary to measure students' ability, to furnish a motive for study and for reviewing and organizing the contents of the course. The bulletin discusses methods of improving examinations and gives examples of different types thereof.

DR. HERBERT GRAY IS TO ADDRESS STUDENTS

An announcement was made at the "Sing" last night to the effect that Dr. Herbert Gray of Glasgow, whose name is already familiar to not a few of the students, will speak at the Student Service to be held in the Union next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Dr. Gray will also be at the "Sing" next Sunday evening after church. It is hoped that a very large number of the students will be at the service in the morning in order to hear this outstanding speaker. Dr. Gray will also address several meetings on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Further information regarding these latter meetings will appear later.

Montreal,
Feb. 3, 1923.

The Editor,
McGill Daily:

Dear Sir,—The other side of the Students' Conference Question.

There are those both in the University and outside who do not see eye to eye with all the activities of the Students' Christian Association (so-called). Fortunately there are still many who think this old world isn't such a bad place to live if you are willing to work.

The Toronto "Saturday Night" of Feb. 3rd, carries as its leading article, an editorial on the "Conference," which I would ask you to publish as a little propaganda for those of us at McGill who expect to work for a living.

The article is as follows:

PUTTING CRANK NOTIONS IN YOUNG MINDS.

A recent number of the "Christian Guardian" contained a lengthy report of a Students' Conference which was held not long ago in Toronto. Several hundred young men from various points attended, and all sorts and conditions of subjects were discussed, Socialism for one, though they may have called it by another name. It seems, according to the report in front of me, signed Edward Trelawney, a pen name used on occasions, I am informed, by the Rev. Mr. Thomas of the Social Service Department of the Methodist Church, that there was a wholesale condemnation by those present of our industrial system. It was just wiped off the map. "Its incentive and its methods," says the report "were alike repudiated."

Following Mr. Thomas' report of the proceedings, I find the following very interesting statement:

"It was discovered that about one-third of the student body had either been born on the farm or had had considerable experience of farm life. On the other hand, there were very few who had had more than very brief experience of industrial life. But there had been much observation."

There you are, a lot of immature youths, with no practical experience mostly from the farms, condemning wholesale, with the utmost equanimity, and with no knowledge of the facts, the only system of trade, commerce and industry that has ever put bread into people's mouths with any degree of regularity. Shades of economic Adam Smith! Have we got to the point when dreamers like Salem Bland and Thomas, together with a lot of uninformed school boys, are going to remake our industrial world.

Here is another breezy line or two from Thomas' report: "Perhaps it was unfortunate that in the discussion on industry the experts were asked to remain silent."

Indeed it does not seem unfortunate that industrial experts should be asked to remain silent, when the youth of our land is being led astray, either by their own ignorance or by some imaginative theoretical windbags. This is not to say that our industrial system is as good as it might be, nor as good as it should

CAPTAIN CUTTLE'S COLUMN

TAKING JIM

Dear Captain Cuttle:—
Although I am only a little Freshette I am venturing to write to you about a matter that touches very closely a large number of the women students. I was up skiing on the mountain on Saturday with Jim—a second-year man, Captain—and he left me standing at the top of a little hill while he skied down into a narrow hollow where there was a wooden box fastened on a tree. He opened the box, and took out a pencil and some paper and wrote something on it. When he came up again I asked him what he had been doing. "Just signing my name," he said. "We get credit for gym attendance if we go skiing, don't you?" Well, Captain Cuttle, as you probably know, we don't, and I can't help writing to you to tell you that I think it is a shame that we girls cannot get our gym attendance by skiing too. I'm sure that we get more strenuous up-setting exercises on the mountain than on the gym floor. Will you kindly give me your invaluable opinion of this matter?

FRESHETTE.

Ans.—I think that your grievance is well-founded, especially as you take Jim when you go skiing.

be, but it is the best we have, and is getting better, and until we find higher authorities than preachers and school boys, it will probably remain.

If the Rev. Mr. Thomas and his like would do a real service they would get out and preach "service." Preach the doctrine that men live by the sweat of their brows.

Thanking you for the facilities of your columns,

Yours truly,
FRED. M. ARNOLD,
Science.

The Editor, McGill Daily.

Dear Sir,—We have often been accused of lacking in college spirit. I for one have always been a firm contender that whatever the students of McGill may be guilty of, lack of college spirit was certainly not one. My pride has had a severe blow from two glaring incidents in the last three days. The first was the hockey match. The turn-out was rotten, absolutely rotten. To think of men working hard in training, neglecting their work at times, to further the name of their college and then receive the support which our team received is pitiable.

The second was the boxing and wrestling turn out in the Union Saturday evening. A mere handful were present and when the numbers of supporters calls forth comment from one of our coaches, it is certainly high time that students gave a little thought towards the support of their teams.

Thanking you for the space, Mr. Editor, I am,

Yours truly,

B. C. ROCHESTER.

R.V.C. SENIORS DEFEAT M.S.P.E. IN SCORE 51-15

M.S.P.E. Second Team Were Victorious

BRILLIANT PLAY

First Basketball Games Ever
Played in Hall

The Convocation Hall was the scene of two very important basketball games on Saturday morning when the R.V.C. Senior team defeated the M.S.P.E. Senior team with a score of 51 to 15, while the second team of the M.S.P.E. upheld the honour of the Physical Eds by defeating the R.V.C. second team with a score of 33 to 16.

This was the first game to be played in the hall, which has been prepared for the Intercollegiate games which are to be held at the end of February, and the result showed that R.V.C. is well prepared to meet Toronto and Queen's at basketball. There has been a remarkable improvement in the R.V.C. team-work since the beginning of the season, and their combination play was one of the main features of the game. This will be a great asset when they meet the visiting teams.

The game between the Seniors teams was a quick one from the very beginning, when the ball passed to the R.V.C. end and two baskets were made by Miss Spier. The R.V.C. centres and guards were very strong and made some excellent passes. Miss Leggatt of R.V.C. showed speed in getting clear, though most of the baskets were made by Miss Spier in the first half. The period ended with a score of 23 to 8 in favour of R.V.C.

The first score in the second half of the game was made by Miss Leggatt. The M.S.P.E. then secured the ball and by good passes sent it up the floor, and some fast play took place, the ball passing rapidly from end to end. Although Miss Duff-Stewart and Miss Flanagan both made some excellent shots the R.V.C. team kept the lead until the game ended with a score of 51-15.

The second game opened with the scoring of a basket for the M.S.P.E. by Miss McTaggart, who showed great ability as a forward throughout the game.

Although the play was not as fast in this game as in the previous one and there was a tendency to crowd on the part of both teams, there was some very good play and both teams put up a good fight. The line-up was as follows:

WELLINGTON WINS FROM JUNIORS 5-2

Combination a Feature of McGill Game

LONG SHOTS

Scott and Platt Starred for Winners

Steady combination and accurate shooting failed to give the Juniors a win last Saturday, when they were obliged to accept the short end of a 5-2 score in the scrap with Wellington. McGill's play from the start was more systematic than that of their opponents, but Scott, who failed for Wellington, played an exceptional game, blocking shot after shot from the McGill forwards. Abbott and Galley starred for the Juniors. Time and again Galley would pass to Abbott from centre, and the latter shoot, only to be fooled by Scott's consistent vigilance. For Wellington, Platt and O'Rourke played an excellent game in the forward line; they depended, however, more on individual rushes than on combination, to get the rubber up the ice. The game was a clean one throughout. Frame, of Wellington, was slightly injured in the last half, but was on the ice again immediately. The game by periods follows:

First Period.

Referee Riddle called the men together at 3.30 and after addressing them for a couple of moments, faced the puck. McGill at once took the offensive, and for several moments the game was altogether in Wellington's end, Abbott and Cope showing shots on their opponents' goal. O'Rourke and Platt now took several long shots at Munro in an effort to keep the puck from their end, but failed to do so and Galley, intercepting a pass in front of Wellington's goal, drew first blood for McGill. Immediately after the face-off O'Rourke took a long shot and scored. The puck was again in front of the enemy's nets when Payne made an individual rush and fooled Munro, making Wellington's score 2 to our 1. Even play continued for several minutes, the McGill boys gradually working up the ice. Abbott took a shot from the right corner, Scott blocked it and Cope took the rebound. Scott guarded Cope's shot, only to find Abbott again in possession. The third shot found Scott unready, and the period closed with the score 2-1.

Second Half.

Wellington came on determined to win, and held the lead throughout. After a couple of minutes of play Platt made a rush and scored. This was followed by some rather wild shooting on the part of the Juniors, Scott easily guarding his nets. Platt then repeated his former rush and added another point to Wellington's score. Shortly after this an active scuffle took place before the McGill goal, during which several of the Wellington players, actuated by an earnest desire to increase their score, heaped themselves on Munro. Munro, upon emerging, denied that the puck had passed him, and no score was declared. This decision had the effect of doubling Wellington's determination, and shortly afterwards Mayhew broke through the McGill defence and scored. No further score was made by either team, and the period closed 5-2 in favour of Wellington.

The line-up of the respective teams were as follows:—

McGill Juniors. Wellington.

Goal. Scott

Right Defence. Goldie

Left Defence. Code

Centre. Galley

Right Forward. Platt

Left Forward. Abbott

R.V.C. '24 DEFEAT R.V.C. '26 ON ICE

Third Hockey Game of Inter-
Class Series

Saturday morning the third of the R.V.C. interclass hockey games was played off, when the Juniors won over the Freshettes by a score of 7 to 0. The Freshettes were forced to play on the defensive during most of the game. Their few individual rushes, made chiefly by Miss Stocking, resulted in shots that were either wide of the mark or else stopped by the Junior goal-tender. The game was not very fast, although the Junior team showed good combination and a strong defence.

The first period opened by the puck being carried straight to the goal of '26 and within five or six minutes three goals had been made by Miss Robertson. A little later the puck was passed by Miss Robertson to Miss Grant, who shot and scored. There were a few ineffectual rushes to the Juniors' end and then the play centred for a while about the Freshettes' goal. The first period ended with a score of 4 to 0 for the Juniors.

In the second period the Freshettes began to play harder and the play was more evenly divided between the two ends. One or two of the few offside in the game occurred here. Miss Robertson netted a goal on a pass from Miss Grant, so the score at the end of this period was 5 to 0 in favor of the Juniors.

The playing was fairly fast in the third period and both teams worked very hard. Miss Stocking did some very good work and made several rushes but did not succeed in making any goals. There was some fairly fast play around both goals and Miss Dyke managed to get the puck by the goal-tender. There was a good deal of centre playing, but just before the period was over Miss Grant managed to get away with the puck and scored the last goal. The final score was 7 to 0 for the Juniors.

The teams lined up as follows:

Right Wing M. Gilman

Left Wing R. Ward

Goal M. Harwood

Defence M. Cameron

DEBATERS CHOSEN BY MACCABAEANS

Toronto Conference Is Discussed at Meeting

The election of Batshaw and Usher as the McGill Maccabean Circle representatives in the debate against the Toronto Menorah Society, which is to take place shortly, and the passing of a resolution to accept the invitation of the S.C.A. to join in a conference for the purpose of determining the basis of co-operation between the two bodies were the main features of a fairly well attended meeting of the Maccabean Circle yesterday afternoon.

Following the election of the debating team, the president of the society gave a brief sketch of the recent Conference of Canadian Students at Toronto, showing that the general tendency of those attending was towards good fellowship.

On the completion of Klineberg's interesting address, a discussion was carried on by members of the society. The opinions expressed by the various members differed greatly, but the outcome of the arguments was the resolution quoted above.

OTHER CAMPUSES

THE NEW WOMAN

When two freshmen women at Wellesley College were caught smoking by a house mother and reprimanded, they withdrew from the school, declaring they would rather give up college than their cigarettes. The girls, when told that expulsion would follow their next smoking seance, said they preferred to leave such an "unprogressive institution that does not permit the development of the new woman."

"ANATOMIE OF ABUSES"

A football story, dated 1583 was discovered recently by Prof. Frampton of the State College of Washington, now in England, in the course of his readings in the British Museum. The passage, which is from the "Anatomie of Abuses" by Philip Stubbs, protests against football as a "bloody murdering practice."

MASCULINE BEAUTY

College boys are becoming better looking each year, director of physical education of Northwestern University declared in summarizing reports of physical examinations of three hundred Freshmen. The physical director attributes this advancement in beauty to the new plan adopted almost universally in high schools. This new system gives students two years of health training.

ERRING FROSH PLACARDED

"I've been a darn fool. I did not wear my freshman cap. I wore knitted ties and colored socks with golf knickers. I sure am a DARN FOOL." That is the sign tacked on the back of every freshman who does not obey the traditions at the University of Pennsylvania.

NEW FAD AMONG CO-EDS

The Coué craze has reached the University of Iowa. Coué beads made their first appearance there recently and threaten to become the latest popular fad among up-to-date co-eds. The beads originated in Davenport and are named in honor of M. Emile Coué, the exponent of auto-suggestions and the "Every day in every way" method. They consist of a strand of twenty polished walnut beads on a silk cord with an oval pendant.

NEW-FANGLED TROUSERS

"Memo Book Pants" are the latest college fad and are being used by upperclassmen at the State College of Washington. Corduroy trousers are scrubbed white and are then inscribed with the names of the wearer's classmates. The inscriptions are made in unfading ink and often cover the entire trouser leg.

WALPOLE TELLS OF VALUE OF BOOKS

Inviting any of those in his audience who had come to his lecture merely to satisfy curiosity and who did not passionately love books to retire from the auditorium, Hugh Walpole, famous English novelist, undertook to show the relation between books and friendship to a large audience at Ann Arbor, Michigan, recently.

Mr. Walpole outlined the stages of progress through which he had gone in getting to the point where he learned really to love works of artistic merit, and explained what he believed to be the difficulty with much of our present day literature.

"In the cruel rush and disastrous speed with which we are living," he declared "everything human, individual, lovely, and beautiful is crushed out. The flood of literature that comes from the press every week is something terrific and terrible. We are tempted to taste and believe that we have drunk to the last drop. This is an age when we read book reviews and believe we have accomplished as much as if we had read the original manuscript."

Suggesting a means by which the greatest gratification may come to the reader, Mr. Walpole asserted that a book purchased has twice the value of one borrowed from a friend or library. He told how some books are misplaced in some dark corner of a library and allowed to remain there until some day when they may probably be read. He advocated a closer association with, and knowledge of, the books in a person's private library.

The first step toward seeing the light in literature in his own life was attributed by Mr. Walpole to the discovery one day that a book which he very much enjoyed was an assigned reading he had refused to read at school.

A later stage in the appreciation of books came, he said, when he was one day introduced to the difference between light literature and real art by a young school companion who always seemed to know just what was the right book to read.

The novelist then showed that modern literature is just a connecting link between all the ages of books. "If one thing had been changed," he stated, "in the lives of former authors like Thackeray, Stevenson and others, there is no assurance that you would be able to read the modern book which you read today."

In referring to the incentives which prompt writers to undertake the works they do, Mr. Walpole spoke of the rather

COLLEGE BASED ON NEW PRINCIPLES

Antioch College in Ohio Applies Unique Methods

One of the most interesting methods of education from the point of view of sheer breadth of scope and of idealism of purpose is that which is now used in Antioch College, Ohio. In an address to prominent Massachusetts educators, Arthur E. Morgan, President of the college, outlined his system and advanced his hopes in it.

The Antioch Plan as it is called, was founded, according to President Morgan, on the experiences and failure of American institutions to provide their students with proper training for the leadership, which the world now vitally needs. He finds that the traditional narrowness and specialization of our colleges, provides the graduates with interests and qualities ill-developed to meet the real needs and issues of life. In this condition, we struggle forth from our colleges with personalities, stunted here and overdeveloped there, and with interests so ill-assorted that some of them must be knocked from us by the hard, cold experience of life.

To provide the experiences needed to live a well directed life President Morgan finds the college years of young men and women particularly fitting, and in his system he has kept that idea consciously and uppermost in his mind.

In his words "the Antioch Plan is an undertaking to get a new appraisal of values, a new perspective of the importance of the factors that make up human personality and power; and to provide occasion for the development of these essential qualities in the proportion to their importance to effective living. To turn that theory into an effective working programme is the essence of our undertaking."

The necessities of his programme require a student body fitted by temperament, by character and by intelligence to profit by a course of instruction that will fit them for leadership in our great social and industrial enterprises. A faculty must be picked composed of men who will, by the influence of their teaching, lead the students into an incessant mental, physical, and spiritual activity that leaves no opportunity for stagnation.

Small classes are a part of the programme. That means necessarily a large faculty with the necessity of training a large number of men to places in the faculty. Both of these factors contribute to a direct personal contact between teacher and student, with a consequent study of the student's personal problems and suggestions for their solution.

Curriculums are so balanced that liberal courses, professional options and economic study each bear their due weight. The proportions of course are meant to bear direct relation to the needs that the student is expected to ever have of his studies. At present the liberal courses are given twenty-five per cent of the time, the professional fifty per cent and the economic twenty-five per cent. These percentages are merely arbitrary and will doubtless be adjusted by the experience of time.

By alternating between paid employment and study in five week periods the students gain an actual knowledge of the industrial and economic conditions he and others must face on graduation. In such alternations, is further expected that after five weeks of study before mental surfeiting is about to occur, the student goes into the world of industry and has an opportunity to apply his knowledge in actual observation and experience. On coming back to school after five weeks of employment the student may again tackle his studies with the outlook of his industrial experience. Thus in an ever widening circle, the borders of the student's actual knowledge and ability to meet life-like conditions are extended.

But it must not be imagined that the subjective part of the individual is overlooked in the effort to provide him with objective experiences. The innate qualities that are usually overlooked in colleges, courage, resourcefulness, responsibility and initiative are important subjects for development. Daily physical exercise in some way is demanded, through the philosophy that the mind cannot function properly under an unhealthy condition of the body.

The course extends through six years, so giving the student the continuity of the influence of ideas and spurs to self development during the last and important part of the formative period. The opportunity to work for pay leads the student to early self-support, and the course is expected to be undertaken with an extra fund of only $200 a year for men and $300 a year for women.

A number of influential business men, some of national note having consented to become trustees in the college, and with their advice and help and the basis of his own training and experience, both as engineer and employer, President Morgan hopes to push forward the Antioch plan to a successful and emulative conclusion.

modest but successful beginnings of H. G. Wells. "One day someone told Mr. Wells he was too brilliant to write the things he was writing," Mr. Walpole asserted. "He commenced to write recipes of how writing should be done and give them to eager inquirers. The more he wrote recipes the louder the clamour became for more of them, until he finally ended by producing the finest piece of fiction in the past ten years, his recipe for all history."

A NOBLE PROJECT

The following article was received in the "Daily" office from Mr. William Lutton, well known for his connection as a writer with a local paper. "He that hath no music in his soul is fit for treason stratagems and spoils."

The late Sir William Peterson, Principal of McGill University, often lamented to the writer that music and poetry so slightly entered into the life of the community. It was his contention that in a commercial community in especial it was urgent that the spiritual sense should be cultivated to correct the coarsening effect of mere money-making, which deadened the finer sensibilities. A great cultural building was in the Principal's thought; but in despair of getting the city to further such out of the civic revenue he had plans drawn up for a convocation hall which could be used by the public when the university was not needing it. Many of the old students of McGill look back with affection upon the old Molson Hall in which for many years convocation was held. The boisterous joy, the familiar allusions to the teachers, the carved initials on the desks, the figure of Sir William Macdonald stealing down the back stairs to avoid encomiums which his modesty dreaded—these remembrances will be present with the recurring thought of the old Molson Hall, which has echoed to the voices of not a few of the most notable men of the world.

But the old building disclosed a painful inadequacy in later years; and it was in the official thought to build a noble convocation hall primarily for college purposes, but which might be used by the public for influential musical events.

Montreal wants what every other great community possesses—a noble hall where musical culture can be properly expressed.

Some day a great hearted citizen may give the commercial metropolis a prideful thrill by the gift of such a hall which shall be a spiritual asset of incalculable value because in spite of mathematics man does not live by bread alone.

Montreal has been generous in support of all worthy causes; but this is something finer than the ordinary; this would be Soul, and you could spell it in swelling capitals. An unmodified materialism makes for coarseness of thought, indifference to the things worth while. These things are removed from mere chattering. The world needs the inspiring poetic lines. It needs with even greater urgency that "concourse of sweet sounds" which give the saving sense of joy in life. It is not a great exaggeration to say that if you gave music proper housing, and service,—you might remove the corner policeman.

Certainly you would have better order, a higher sense of citizenship and aesthetic values. In great centres where there are free organ recitals, public tuitions, and the great and tran-quilizing oratories are presented with éclat, the moral and spiritual effects are notable. It is discreditable to Montreal to lack this feature which is a necessity in all great and hurried centres. When Saul was morose he called for David to calm him with music. A noble cultural centre such as has been suggested would produce strikingly redemptive effects.

—WILLIAM LUTTON.

O MARTHA!

I have known a lot of girls.
Only one I'll guarantee,
She does what the others won't—
Martha sits upon my knee.

Martha warmly holds my hand,
Raises laughing eyes to mine,
Puts her arm around my neck,
Gives me kisses most divine.

All the girls that I have known,
Martha means the most to me,
And because she's only four,
Martha sits upon my knee.
